To Whom It May Concern:

Google is pleased to inform you that Aman Singla has successfully completed Google Summer of Code 2019, a program which connects students with mentors for 3 months to develop open source software. Each year many students apply to participate with only a portion of them being accepted into the program, and not every student finishes the program successfully.

Aman was accepted into the program by, and developed open source software for, CircuitVerse.org beginning May 27, 2019 and ending on August 19, 2019. Over that period, they passed each of the three evaluations conducted by their mentor.

More information on Aman's project can be found at:

Aman worked from home on their project and was not required to visit either Google or CircuitVerse.org's offices. They received a stipend of 3000 USD for the project. Although Aman was not directly employed by Google during Google Summer of Code 2019, the program was administered by Google from our corporate headquarters and Google acted as the host organization for the duration of Aman's participation.

You can learn more about the program on our website at g.co/gsoc. Should you require any further information, please do not hesitate to contact our team via email at gsoc-support@google.com.

Best,
